HITCH-HIKERS SELL CARDS TO HELP JOBLESS

Vancouver Mother, T w o
Daughters Thumb Their Way To Edmonton

Smartly-toged in navy blacks, blue shirtwaists, and crimson peaked caps, a mother and her two daughters stopped in at The Bulletin office for a few minutes Tuesday afternoon before leaving for eastern Canada, via the "humb route".

Mrs. Florrie Hayes, so young and prettily looking that it was difficult to tell her from her 15-year-old daughter Dorothy, or Kathleen, just one year younger, told a reporter of their long trek from Vancouver to Edmonton in the past two weeks.

The hardships of the road are not for these young ladies, for they made it from the coast city to Edmonton in six days, having walked only six miles on the entire trip. Their longest ride was 400 miles, from about 12 miles this side of Nelson, B.C., to Calgary.

SELLING CARDS. Advertising the all-day strikers in Vancouver, the travellers are selling post cards to aid them in reaching Halifax, by which time, they hope they will have published the strikers enough to do them some good. At Winnipeg they plan to go south across the 400 parallel into North Dakota and through Minnesota to Wisconsin and on to the Atlantic coast.

"We never know what's coming next," laughed Dorothy, her eyes sparkling, "and that's what makes it so much fun. The people along the road have been just great to us, and we have made so many friends, that we shall have to make the same route back in order to accept their hospitable invitations."

GET DONATIONS. Since they left the Vancouver post office, when the street car service was disrupted, on account of the crowds there to see them off, only one bed and one breakfast has been entered on their expense accounts, all the others having been donated by kind friends along the way. They started with ten dollars

Lost Is Found

ULA LOVE

Home in bed was blond screen actress Ula Love, while her Hollywood agent sent police out on a widespread search by reporting her "missing." The agent said he "feared foul play" because Ula had "traced Hollywood from Memphis, U.S.A. mother said of course she hadn't reached Hollywood—because she hadn't left Memphis—and commented that "it must have been a publicity stunt we didn't know anything about."

given them by a hotel manager, and that ten dollars is still intact in Mrs. Hayes' pocket book. At present the girls are stopping with Mrs. W. A. Brown, 902 104 avenue.

Each girl carries a pack sack containing blankets and a change of clothing, but outside of this, Ula has as light as an Edmonton citizen on his way to a daily stint.

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C., July 13.—A coroner's jury Tuesday decided the fatal shooting of Mike Gurvich, Prince Rupert taxi driver, by British Columbia police was "justifiable homicide" and exonerated them from prosecution for three officers present at his death.

COUPON ISSUE RAISES TALK BY TRUSTEES

Government Warns Grants
May Be Stopped—Morrish Wants "War"

Letter from J. F. Percival, deputy-provincial treasurer of the provincial government, to the Edmonton Public School Board regarding unpaid interest coupons on the board's debentures totalling $2,304.96, caused considerable comment by trustees at the regular meeting of the board Tuesday night.

Mr. Percival's letter stated: "The government is holding unpaid interest of your debentures, and upon presentation of these to the paying bank we were advised that they had your instructions to pay these coupons at fifty per cent of the coupon rate."

MAY HOLD GRANTS "I am directed to advise that unless the coupons are paid at the face value, it will be necessary for the government to effect the reduction by the retention of an equal amount from the grants payable by the province to your school district."

"We should tell the government that we shall treat the tax on the same basis as before, and if they feel they should stop our grant just let them do it," Dr. Walter Morrish, M.L.A., declared.

Chairman A. E. Ottewill stated that "Nothing worse can happen, so we might just as well stand pat."

"We shall lose either way, for they are not using our grant," Trustee Bruce Smith said.

SAME ACTION

In October of 1936, the board authorized that only 20 per cent of the face value of the coupons presented by the government be paid, this being in line with similar action by the government. The board's holdings of the government's bonds of the board's bonds, and on July 1, 1938, the amount of unpaid coupons on the government bonds was $25,083 face value.

In offering informal legal advice, Trustee Smith said that the "Situation is very involved and the question should be taken up by a committee."

MANOEUVRES MAKE HISTORY IN ENGLAND

Army, Navy, Air Force and Civilians To Figure In Display

LONDON, July 13.—For the first time in history the army, navy, air force and civilian population will unite this month in manoeuvres designed to test effectiveness of east coast defences.

The manoeuvres, conducted on the largest scale since the Great War, will see participation of 30 warships, 200 aircraft, coast defence batteries and other units.

In the Tyne military and naval authorities report the joint population to co-operate with an air raid precaution test, possibly accompanied by a blackout against aerial attack.

ATTACK JULY 20 The coast will be attacked July 20 by the blue force consisting of ships and aircraft of the home fleet under command of Admiral Sir Charles Forbes, flying his flag in the battleship Nelson. The red force will consist of the attacking force with the aircraft carrier Courageous with its planes, four destroyers, 14 destroyers and five submarines.

The defence will be undertaken by the red force of coast defence destroyers, coast defence artillery and the Royal Air Force. The defence will be in the defending force than with the attackers, but two destroyers will represent a larger number and four destroyers will form the skeleton of a greater force.

Tyne fortresses will be manned by the East Riding heavy brigade of territorial artillery and the East Riding Fort Royal Engineers. Harwich defences will be manned by the Tyne heavy brigade, territorial artillery, and Tyne electrical engineers, another territorial unit. No anti-aircraft defences will be present.

The air force planes taking part will be the "Blacks" of the Royal Air Force.

"It certainly is worth looking into."

"Oh, let's just declare war," exclaimed Dr. Morrish.

The item was referred to the finance committee.

Suggested co-ordination of the city department of health and the health services of the public school system, which would necessitate the appointment of a full time medical man, preferably having the degree of doctor of public health, was spoken to by both Dr. Gordon Swallow and Dr. F. J. Foulness, medical supervisors of the public school health department.

TWO MEN

It is the opinion of both these men that the work of complete physical examinations for school children is too exhaustive for one man to spend all day at, and can be much more efficiently done by two part-time medical men.

"There is a necessity for a more rigid control of the school nurses, and the line has come when we must appoint someone to head the service. If we go outside the system we should select a Doctor of Public Health," Dr. Morrish said.

"Essential point of a revised scheme would be that the city health officer should have a good deal to say," Trustee Ottewill added. "A definite explanation of the principle that public health services of the city should be co-ordinated is a concession to the plebeians taken some years ago, saying that an amalgamation should be made between the two systems."

BUDGET QUESTION "Ours is essentially a pediatric work, and that is a service that you are rendering to the school children of Edmonton, and if you don't wish to increase your budget then we will have two part-time men, and give Dr. Swallow the necessary authority with the nurses," Dr. Foulness told ward members.

The new scheme was referred back to the management and health committee, but it was decided that the existing arrangement with Dr. Swallow and Dr. Foulness would be continued for the remainder of 1938 at least.

School nurses will be given their holidays in August as has been the custom in recent years.

Recommendation to the board that a tabular steel for the purpose of estimating approximately $504 be built at Glenora school, was referred to the property committee.

The Edmonton Exhibition Board will again be allowed to use the Crowdsale school building for the junior department work and is prepared to make a bid for the same, but it was decided that at the moment the board was not prepared to consent to their sale.

Barren Land Finally Yields Paying Crop

GOLDENDALE, Wash., July 13.—For the first time in 13 years a paying crop of wheat is being harvested from the ordinarily barren Horse Heaven Hills near here, S. F. Ganders, chairman of the Klickitat county agricultural board, said Tuesday.

At least 35,000 acres of Horse Heaven land will yield an average of 20 bushels per acre, Ganders estimated. The last crop of grain was harvested in the Horse Heaven in 1908.

Ganders estimated that it takes approximately 30 years for the Horse Heaven land to store up sufficient moisture and root material to raise one crop of wheat.

HON. T. A. CRESSER

PICTON, N.S., July 13.—Hon. T. A. Cresser said here Tuesday Nova Scotia had "the best tourist possibilities of any province in Canada." The federal minister of resources visited the site of the proposed national park in Cape Breton and said work on it would start this year.

General reconnaissance and torpedo bomber units will be under air marshal Sir Frederick Bownhill, commander-in-chief of the coastal command, and the fighters under air vice-marshal Z. I. Goswami, air officers commanding No. 11 fighter group.

Reconnaissance units will fly over the North Sea to spot the service craft submission and aircraft in co-operation with the land naval force.

The torpedo bomber unit will be used in attacks against blue naval vessels and fighter planes to intercept and repel blue forces attacking east coast fortresses.

The post office, which controls telephone and telegraph services in this country, has warned the public the manoeuvres may disturb normal service temporarily.

IF IT WILL HELP ALBERTA THE
EDMONTON BULLETIN IS FOR IT

WEDNESDAY, JULY 13, 1948

This is July

The city council proposes to ask the Dominion Government for as much as $2 million in money as it is entitled to borrow under the Act to assist municipalities in making self-liquidating improvements. The amount is calculated at $207,000. In addition it is planned to spend $118,000 of sinking fund money, released under the Fortin debt-extending arrangement, to make general improvements. This will give a total of $325,000 available for the season's construction program.

It is unfortunate the program has been so long delayed. Two months of weather suitable for such work have been lost. This delay was perhaps unavoidable so far as the Dominion loan money is involved, since the Act was only passed last month. But the general improvement schedule could surely have been made up long ago and the work started when spring opened.

Had that been done, there would have been a considerable amount of work made available to unemployed men throughout the entire season. Now, with half the season gone, the whole expenditure will be made, and the whole of the unemployment provided, in the remaining months.

The best counsel can now do is to see that no more time is lost in getting the projects under way. To the man who has been idle all summer, time is important. The sooner he can begin earning wages, the sooner will he be able to get behind financially, and be able to restore his family to a normal living standard. The better, too, will be able to make preparations for winter, against which there is all too short a time to accumulate savings.

No Harvesters Needed

The Minister of relief has found it necessary to broadcast a warning that no outside help will be needed, or can be used, in taking off the harvest in Alberta. There are 8,000 registered unemployed men in the province, quite as many as will be required to harvest the crop. As many of these are registered as unemployed, it is to the advantage of the Alberta farmer, who is also a taxpayer, to employ them instead of men coming in from other provinces. This he will not doubt do, as he will be assisted in doing and encouraged to do by the relief department and the official employment service.

A good crop in Alberta no longer means what it once meant in terms of a demand for help. The harvest season days are over. So are the days when city men who else could work with assurance to harvest time to give them employment on the farms during the fall months. For the Alberta farmer has gone in for mechanization in a big way and has been going to that direction faster in the last two or three years than ever before.

Labor-saving machines has permanently displaced the army of temporary farm-hands who used to be needed to handle a crop. Whatever this may imply, of disappointment and hardship to those who cannot find employment, it is a fact. Alberta has no farm help it will require in the harvest and threshing season. It is altogether probable that at the busiest period in harvest time there will still be considerable numbers of men without work in the larger centres.

Outsiders who come here hoping for harvest jobs will only cut themselves off from whatever claim to relief they may have in the provinces where they reside. Vancouver papers please copy.

Edmonton and the Outlets

Edmonton businessmen are being asked to contribute money to help the Peace River people finish the highway they are opening up through the Monkman Pass to Prince George, B.C. Why should they do so? That is the question which arises naturally, and the more certainly arises, on the face of it, any direct outflow from Peace River to the Coast seems to imply some diversion of business from Edmonton to Vancouver.

There are three reasons why this project is worthy of Edmonton support. One that is being carried through without the help of governments. The settlers and businessmen of the Peace River area have undertaken to make this road, 160 miles in length, at their own expense and with such private assistance as they can secure from outsiders. Self-help deserves help. Another reason is that the road is certain to be finished whether Edmonton supports or opposes the enterprise. Ninety-five miles have been built. Sixty-five more to be built. Outside help from other quarters is being given on a scale that makes completion of the road altogether likely during the present summer. Could Edmonton afford to give an impression that it was hostile or even indifferent to the undertaking?

The third justification for Edmonton help is that the highway will do the city more good than harm. There are 85,000 people now in the Peace River area, carrying on farming operations in circumstances which severely restrict their buying power. If their number can be increased and their buying power enlarged by giving them better access to outside markets, the area will be a richer field in which to seek trade for Edmonton business houses that it now is.

Economic development in the north country never hurt Edmonton, but always helped the city. There lie the sources of its future growth and prosperity. The new highway—and any other project that will make farming more profitable throughout the Peace River area—must open larger opportunities for trade to Edmonton's business institutions.

Editorial Notes

The new Conservative leader says the King Government is "headed for defeat". No doubt; all governments come to that eventually. But if the King Government doesn't come to the end of the road until the voters develop enthusiasm for that "lot of junk" the prophet is likely to have a long wait.

Chief Shute has issued the annual warning that boys, and all others, must stop riding bicycles on the sidewalks. When summer arrives it seems to be assumed—or hoped—that the city council has repealed the cycling bylaw or the police have forgotten about it. Neither has happened. The walks are still places for people to walk.

Canadian Fascists held their first annual convention, at Kingston, though outsiders were not able to find out where the meeting was held. They are not, of course, the only Fascists in Canada. The other, and more numerous, branch is composed of those who are advocating the abandonment of parties and the creation of a Union Government.

The first general election of the North West Territory is over. The legislature differs from the late council in two important particulars. Part of the late council, the appointed members, represented only the federal government, and the remainder only a section of the North West Territory. The new assembly will represent only the people of the North West, and all the people have had the opportunity of being represented on it.

Old Country Letter

By J. E. NORRIS

LONDON, England (By Mail)—If memory serves, the patronization of the visit of the King and Queen to France is the first great state function to be so affected by the illness or death of a royal personage, or a near relative of the Sovereign, since 1902, when the coronation of the late King Edward VII had to be put off, almost at the last minute, owing to his sudden and serious indisposition.

The wonder is that such delays, or even cancellations, do not occur often. There are several aged members of the Royal Family and had any one of them passed away at a critical time, the Silver Jubilee and Coronation celebrations performance would have been considerably modified. The religious ceremonies might have been carried out according to program, but the rejoicing associated with them would have had to be easily curtailed.

This newly happened, in fact, when Queen Victoria's Diamond Jubilee was observed. A near relative of the Queen, a German princess, died when the festivities were at their height. Her demise was kept secret until they were over, even the Queen herself being informed.

The delay in the state visit to France is not, in the light of what has happened, a very long time for putting the final polish on the preparations and it means extending the social season for a fortnight.

Normally the "dead season" in Paris begins after the Fete Nationale on July 14, but with the Royal visit closely following, the festivities have had to be postponed until after the great benefit of the Paris shops, hotels and theatres.

Not improbably their Majesties would have preferred a longer postponement, but Paris is deserted by society in August and September, and in October the open-air part of the program would have had to be abandoned—and it is a nearly all "open air".

The Duke of Kent's collection for the amusements of the community has been exemplified at Glasgow. It may be recalled that when the Duke, then Prince George of Wales, was with his brother the Prince of Wales, now the Duke of Windsor, a dozen years ago, it happened that the Vancouver Agricultural Exhibition was in full swing.

The Royal guests, of course, were taken out to see it. In the course of their peregrinations they came across the numerous and varied and fascinated with the switch-back railway which at that time had the reputation of being the biggest and most thrilling contraption of the kind.

To the horror of those who had been told that the Duke of Kent, in fact, took a ride. Late at night he got into a party of "the Duke of Kent" and as a public dance given in honor of the visitor and went out to spend another hour or so on the switch-back, and then he was taken to the Windsor, mindful of his responsibilities, was satisfied with his own adventure.

At Glasgow the Duke of Kent was accompanied by the Duchess and their official visit to the Exhibition over and having visited the Queen Elizabeth, building on Clydebank, he slipped quietly away to his branch hotel and spent an hour in the amusement park.

The Duke, possibly remembering Vancouver, refused the Duchess to take a trip on the switch-back, he clung to the handrail while he let out breathless little screams—like any lad and lass from a cotton town.

They took in almost everything, the motor-car, the Crazy House, and other attractions, all the fun of the fair, in fact. "It has been grand," said the Duke, as they concluded the excursion.

Your Health

By FRANK MCCOY

While the average person uses the term "run down" as a possible cause of a number of symptoms, the physician does not use it as a term to any great extent, because it is too indefinite.

Probably the word "weakness" comes as close as anything to what the patient means, but the physician would probably use the term "nervousness" instead of weakness. The way the layman uses the word "run down" is to indicate a feeling of a clock which is so run down it is about to stop forever, but the physician does not accept that picture very readily as he knows the body is not a clock which needs winding up at intervals, but consists of an organism made up of many systems which must all work together before health and strength are to be enjoyed.

For example, there are the digestive system, the eliminative system, the heart and blood system, the nervous system and so on. Each of all of which must work together in harmony. When the patient complains of being "run down" the physician feels that he is getting a picture of one or more of these systems not doing a normal amount of work and that the first step is to examine the patient and then investigate sufficiently to find the cause of some part of the body failing to function well.

The possible causes of what the patient calls a "run down" state are many. Poor diet and digestion which keeps the patient from getting the good food from his food; faulty elimination by consequent delay in getting rid of poisons and resultant auto-intoxication; the liver or gall bladder not working properly; and the presence of local infections anywhere in one or more of the organs.

Fatty diet is a possible cause which must be investigated and includes such mistakes as eating too much rich food, eating too much fat, not getting enough minerals and vitamins, using the wrong food combinations, and eating foods difficult to digest.

Fatty elimination as applied to these complaints chiefly of being "run down" usually means a stoppage of the eliminative system and the patient goes a history of "having to take something to keep regular". Here, the cause is obvious, as the patient is being continually overloaded by his own waste material. However, the elimination from other channels such as the skin, kidneys and lungs, may be faulty and this deficient elimination may be productive of the state known as auto-intoxication.

Good underlying toxic condition is built up in local infections may develop a variety of the body, and the patient may develop sinus

Current Comment

The Vancouver Situation

A week's reflection has effected considerable change in Vancouver's attitude toward the situation.

It is true that we cannot withdraw by one jot or tittle from our previous and continued stand that Ottawa should have long since taken the case of these men under prompt administrative and affected the men some means of earning an adequate livelihood.

But after a week we can still see no excuse for the orgy of violence that followed the scenes in the art gallery and post office early Sunday morning.

Canada is either an organized social body or it is not. We cannot have an anarchy without rules of social behavior or we are democracy with highly developed rules of social behavior.

If we are the former, it is quite in order that a minority group should with impunity rage down the main streets, smashing windows, looting, terrorizing shopkeepers and placing business men under a terrific handicap of license and violence gone mad.

In such a case it is quite useless to try to carry on the business of government with order and decorum and to stand by the traditions of orderly procedure upon which our institutions of business and finance have been founded.

If we are the latter, it is utterly unthinkable that a minority group, no matter how large or fancied wrongs, should upset the whole business structure of government by such a display of hoodlumism.—Vancouver Sun.

Alberta's Oil Empire Asks

While this newspaper has been critical at times of some of the methods of the Alberta government, it is a pleasure to note that the appreciation of the great increase in oil production in that province. For years Alberta has been producing about 40,000 barrels a day, but in the last few months ago the first well to produce oil of a very high grade was brought into production. Since then additional wells have brought up the daily production to about 40,000 barrels. The discovery of which now confronts the producers is to find a market for their products. It seems to us that the production of oil in the west province is a matter of national importance and national respect. Little oil is produced in the British Empire and this oil is produced in the British Empire raw material should be encouraged and assisted in every possible way. At the moment, we are bringing into Canada millions of barrels of foreign oil each year, and for that we are sending out millions in Canadian cash. It seems to us that it is only one thing, that if necessary, federal government should put into use the Canada's production of Alberta's oil fields.

An Alberta contemporary says: "Only two years ago there was no crude oil production in the Valley of the Red River. Now it is being produced to the full flow the daily production would be about 50,000 barrels. Sixty more wells would be required to produce the same amount of oil. Two-thirds of them turn out to be producers, there will soon be a daily capacity of 100,000 barrels. This is a remarkable showing in so short a time."

These familiar with the development there are convinced that there are latest oil supplies in Alberta sufficient to supply the needs of Canada, but to furnish the British Empire with a substantial amount of crude oil. Alberta's oil is a matter of national importance and to the wisdom or unwisdom of Alberta's political outlook should not enter very much into this picture.—Saint John (N.B.) Telegraph-Journal.

On This Date

By FRANK WILLIAMS

On July 13, 1896, the Laurier ministry was sworn into office. The Liberals had been out of power for 18 years, and Mr. Laurier and his colleagues were bombarded with demands from the opposition to resign. They refused to do so, and were fired instantly and room made for "the faithful". But except in Quebec and some sections of Nova Scotia, the new ministry was not created. The prime minister laid down the fact that no civil servant should be dismissed "except for cause," which generally meant political cause. He also laid down the fact that no minister in line, with the exception of J. Israel Tarte, who had many grudge to settle and who, as a result of his political work, was able to avoid the axe quickly and frequently.

I do not mean to say that patronage was abolished, but it was able to keep its head and move. Far from it. Indeed, as the years passed, patronage grew until, in very self-defence, the ministry had to pass the Civil Service Commission Act and try to unload the patronage burden and install into the service some element of permanency and promotion by merit. Most of the credit for that was due to Hon. Sir John A. Macdonald, minister of agriculture, but he found much opposition in his own party in the reforming period of that time. Yet he had the support of Mr. R. L. Borden, then leading the Conservative opposition. Together they did much to curb the patronage abuse.

All the members of that great ministry of 1896 have gone except two—Sir William Mulock, a parliamentarian, and Sir Charles Fitzgerald, a politician. Neither of them has any indication of living longer than their political careers. Indeed, both were anything but physically perfect at that time. Yet he had the devotion to duty both as cabinet ministers and as judges (with a lieutenant-governorship added for Sir Charles) were the men who were then placed today among the grand old men of the country.

I hope that both are busy on their memoirs. What is left of Sir Charles could throw upon politics in Quebec, both before and after 1896. We will ever be able to read the story of those years as he figures in them.

Trouble, alas, at the point of the teeth, or "old" bones. While the local infections themselves may not seem to be causing much local trouble, enough poisons may drain away from the system to cause a general "run down" and translate this general effect into a sign of his "run down".

A "run down" condition may be accompanied by a mild secondary anemia with the red blood cells being reduced as to number, or it may be accompanied by an underweight condition or by low blood pressure.

Tomorrow's article will discuss the proper procedure to follow when you think you are "run down" or "tired" group. Watch for it in the newspaper.

SIDE GLANCES — by George Clark

"I just ignore this water hole. The club had a lot of nerve putting it here in the first place."

With everything. And this because we have an old-fashioned bunch of politicians to govern our affairs.

Who owns a country if it is not the people who live in it, and why can't they share in its abundance, or should it be only a few who have the privilege? They talk inflation if new money is made. This is pure hogwash. In Canada could they get it off the press and there would be no inflation.

Now you will say, Should they throw it out against the people? Not they. They have the highway build up the C.N.R. establish old pensions to say over 30 years of age and take them out of the public employment; they can build hospitals, schools, homes for the aged, establish cancer and other sickness clinics to protect our coming generations.

In conclusion, it might say that my education is very limited, but if the above is carried out and if any one can take me up I'll explain why and how come.

"Come on you orthodox financiers."

What Is Your Opinion?

A great many interesting letters received by the Editor of the Bulletin are too long for publication. Our correspondents would like to say a great deal, but the limit of 350 words must be insisted on.

When the Rails Are Gone

Editor, Bulletin: In 1934 the Omaha Railroad abandoned its branch line from Sioux City, Ia., to Wynon, Nebraska. A distance of about 40 or 50 miles. The line had been operated at a substantial loss for some years prior to its abandonment, and because of its proximity to Sioux City most of the business which it would normally have carried was diverted to trucks. When the petition for abandonment was presented to the Interstate Commerce Commission by the railway, the commission granted a stay of one year to determine whether or not the people living in that territory would be able to handle their business without the railway. At the year of grace had expired the Interstate Commerce Commission granted the petition of the railroad and the trucks were torn up.

The trucks were torn up, the people and the farmers that they would be entirely able to handle their business without the railway. It is a pity that the bulk of the transportation service was already in that territory, and that the trucks were torn up.

Now let us see what has happened in this Sioux City-Wynon territory. First of all the grain by rail to Sioux City and the East was 3 cents per bushel from the farthest point in the line. Now the rate is 10 cents per bushel. The grain is now being shipped to the coast by rail, and the trucks are offering to deliver coal to Sioux City at 10 cents per ton. Farm value has been depreciated from 30 per cent to 75 per cent. Stock farmers are 50 miles from a railroad. The value of the town erected at a cost of $4,000 are being for sale at levels as low as $800 and there are no buyers. Lastly, the Omaha road paid $100,000 each year in taxes and the sum has been shifted over to the remaining taxpayers.

There is not a nice picture, yet if the rural merchants and rural communities do not awaken, it is a case that is going to be a real sore of town. Action Wanted

Editor, Bulletin: The Bulletin "Letter Box" is always a welcome item. Much constructive thought is revealed under this heading and also much information can be gained from its pages.

Some days ago there appeared a letter written by Mr. Denny. I believe this is correct. I would like to know why our federal government does not give us some indication of its policy in this connection. It may be that the government of the Ottawa government could give us a bill a billion dollars to the people who work for jobs.

Well, we all wonder about the time. But when you see all the old money men, it is very apparent why we don't have a bill a billion dollars to the people who work for jobs. The man behind the money strings the present out of administration and get it out of the money men, it is very apparent why we don't have a bill a billion dollars to the people who work for jobs.

Next Game: 8:30 p.m. Tuesday, Columbia Club vs. Arrows.

By KEN METHERALL

FIGHTING grimly to hold off the hard-hitting Belmont nine and taking full advantage of every little break that came their way, Army and Navy Cardinals jumped from second to third place last night at Renfrew Park as they downed the North Edmonton nine 4-3. The win, Cardinals 4-3, of the season, broke Belmonts' winning streak at four games.

Last night's struggle was just about the finest turned in this season in the senior baseball pool. Both clubs played a fast, snappy brand of ball that had the large crowd right up on their toes all the time. There was lots of heavy hitting that included two home-run clouts, several sensational catches, and a pleasing scarcity of sloppy plays.

One black moment in the eighth inning, when the Belmonts seemed to have been a well earned victory. With the score tied 3-3 at Cardinals' bat, the top half of the eighth inning, Bill Green whiffed sharply to left field. George started on a steal to second and Delgatto hit Harney's peg into the centre field. Green moved and to third base. Then crossed the plate with the winning run when Lewis missed the throw from centre.

KHAIN STARS

Edna Khain turned in just about the finest game of the season in the way of mound work as she played on the rubber for Belmonts. Throwing times during the evening Cardinal struck stepped to the plate to take their turn at bat. Jimmy H. of them struck out. Eddie only handed out one walk, allowed seven hits and never more than a single during the evening.

The Army and Navy crew collected but a single earned run off Schallin—a home run in the fourth inning by Phil Blumsted—while his team-mates got all their tallies the hard way. It was a tough game to lose but the payoff is on the run and the plate and Belmonts skidded into third place in the league standings.

Some of the best hitting seen in the senior loop was on display last night as Phil Horn and Phil Blumsted led the old horseshoe plumb out of the park. Both went sailing over the right field fence.

GOLDIE CONNECTS

But all the slickers had to make their saloons to lurching Leroy Goldworthy. Goldie matched up to the plate five times during the evening, trained his heavy single runs on the Cardinals and let loose with five hits for a perfect night at bat. Even Carl's hitting slugging destruction. George Green was a slightly puffed.

Belmonts seemed headed for the fifth straight victory last night as they rolled Cardinals in successive three-inning to start the first inning, and away they went. Two runs across the plate in their half of the initial inning and Goldworthy did the scoring. But their lead was short lived as Doug Stewart scampered home with a run for Cards in the second and Ed Wimmer tallied in the third.

The last half of the third saw Belmonts forge into the lead again as Phil Horn filled the pill over the fence for a circuit home. And they performed exactly the same feat in the fourth. There was no more scoring until the eighth when
